What do you do when you have one sheet of paper with two awesome sides? Try folding back a corner of it like I did in this layout and let both patterns shine!

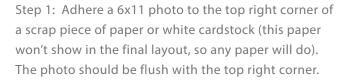

SUPPLY LIST:

Copper Mountain Scrapbook Kit, Silhouette Cameo, foam tab circles, paper piercer, needle, floss

Step 2: Lay the grey patterned paper ("As Seen on TV" by Studio Calico), grey side up, on top of the base paper and photo. Adhere just the bottom and left edge for now. Then, carefully fold back the grey paper to reveal the photo beneath and the striped "B" side. Don't actually fold the paper. Just try to roll it back without creasing it. You may have to play with it a bit to get the right amount of photo showing. Once you have it turned back at the right angle/position, you can lightly crease the folded edge.

Step 3: Use adhesive foam to secure the flap to the page.

Step 4: Die cut the title out of grey cardstock. Set aside.

Step 5: Cut a strip of paper from the yellow heart patterned paper and adhere along the bottom of the layout. My strip is 2x12, but you may have to adapt that measurement according to the angle of your flap.

Step 6: Cut several strips of words/phrases from the "Listed" patterned paper by We R Memory Keepers. Look for sentiments that are appropriate for your layout.

Step 7: Cut apart the sentiments you want from Step 6 and create a custom strip of words and phrases. Adhere this strip along the yellow/grey seam as shown. Step 8: Use adhesive foam to adhere the title as shown. Use three different colors of puffy heart stickers above the title.

Step 9: Use a paper needle, paper piercer and some white DMC floss or thread to do some hand stitching as shown. Poke your holes first and then sew with the needle and thread.

Step 10: Add journaling to one of the navy edged labels and adhere to the layout as shown. Add a red puffy heart sticker as well.
